(Kalyāṇa,mittatā) Sāriputta Sutta
The Sāriputta Discourse (on Spiritual Friendship) | S 45.3/5:3 f
Theme: Spiritual friendship is the whole of the holy life.
Translated by Piya Tan ©2007, 2010

[RECOMMENDATION. If this is the first time you are studying about spiritual friendship, it is recommended that you first read the essay, Spiritual friendship: Stories of kindness = SD 8.1. Or better, for a more comprehensive study, follow the sequence study texts as recommended at [2] below].

1 Introduction
The (Kalyāṇa,mittatā) Sāriputta Sutta (S 45.3), as the title suggests Sāriputta’s statement on the nature of spiritual friendship before the Buddha, who endorses it. The sutta is quite straightforward. In fact, it is a flipside, as it were, of the Upāḍḍha Sutta (S 45.2), which immediately precedes it in the Magga Samyutta. ¹ The Buddha’s teaching is identical in the two suttas.²

While Ānanda thinks that spiritual friendship constitutes only half the holy life (one half is self-effort, the other the guidance of the spiritual friends, a meditation teacher), Sāriputta declares that spiritual friendship is the whole of the holy life. While the Buddha corrects Ānanda, Sāriputta on the other hand is praised by him for his wisdom.

The Saṃyutta Commentary explains that because Ānanda has not attained the peak of knowledge of the disciple’s perfections (sāvaka pāramī), he does not know that the whole holy life of the path depends on spiritual friends. The “Dharma General” Sāriputta, on the other hand, has attained the peak of knowledge of the disciple’s perfections, and so knows this. So he speaks thus and the Blessed One therefore praises him. (SA 3:118)

2 Study Method
These three suttas and three essays on spiritual friendship should be studied together, as they are all closely related. It is recommended that we study them in this sequence:

(1) The Upāḍḍha Sutta (S 45.2/5:2 f) SD 34.9,
(2) The (Kalyāṇa,mitta) Appamāda Sutta (S 3.18/1:87 f) SD 34.3,
(3) The (Kalyāṇa,mittatā) Sāriputta Sutta (S 45.3/5:3) SD 34.10.

And if you want to learn more details on the topics, go on to read the following essays:

(4) Spiritual friendship: Stories of kindness SD 8.1,
(5) Spiritual friendship: A textual study SD 34.18,
(6) Bad friendship SD 34.1.

The Sāriputta Discourse
(on Spiritual Friendship)
S 45.3/5:3 f

1 Originating in Sāvatthī.

Sāriputta’s statement on spiritual friendship

2 Then the venerable Sāriputta approached the Blessed One, saluted him and then say down at one side. Sitting thus at one side, the venerable Sāriputta said this to the Blessed One:

“Bhante, spiritual friendship, good companionship, good comradeship, is the whole of the holy life.”

The Buddha’s approval

3 “Sadhu, Sāriputta! Sadhu, Sāriputta! Spiritual friendship, good companionship, good comradeship, is the whole of the holy life. It is to be expected of a monk who is [who has] a spiritual friend, a good companion, a good comrade, that he will cultivate the noble eightfold path, he will develop the noble eightfold path.

The viveka,nissita formula

4 And how, Sāriputta, does a monk who is [who has] a spiritual friend, a good companion, a good comrade, cultivate the noble eightfold path, that he will develop the noble eightfold path?

Here, Sāriputta, a monk cultivates right view based on solitude, on dispassion, on cessation, maturing in release.

He cultivates right intention based on solitude, on dispassion, on cessation, maturing in release.

He cultivates right speech based on solitude, on dispassion, on cessation, maturing in release.

He cultivates right action based on solitude, on dispassion, on cessation, maturing in release.

He cultivates right livelihood based on solitude, on dispassion, on cessation, maturing in release.

He cultivates right effort based on solitude, on dispassion, on cessation, maturing in release.

He cultivates right mindfulness based on solitude, on dispassion, on cessation, maturing in release.

7 Virāga also “fading away (of lust).”

8 Nirodha, that is, “cessation of suffering.”

9 Vossagga, also “letting go, relinquishment.” MA says that there are 2 kinds of letting go or relinquishment (of suffering) (vossagga): “giving up” (pariccāga), ie the abandonment of defilements, and “entering into” (pak-khandana), ie culminating in nirvana. Gethin notes that this phrase is not unique to the 7 bojjhangā, but is also found in connection with the factors of the noble eightfold path, the indriyā and balā (2001:162 f). This formula shows that that each bojjhangā is to be developed successively “as dependent on solitude, dispassion [fading away] and cessation” (Gethin 2001:166).
He cultivates right concentration based on solitude, on dispassion, on cessation, maturing in release.

In this way, Ānanda, a monk who is a spiritual friend, a good companion, a good comrade, will cultivate the noble eightfold path, will develop the noble eightfold path.

The Buddha as a spiritual friend

5 In this way, too, Sāriputta, it should be known, in a manner of speaking, how spiritual friendship, good companionship, good comradeship is the whole of the holy life:

By relying upon me as a spiritual friend, Sāriputta, beings subject to birth are freed from birth,

beings subject to decay are freed from decay,
beings subject to death are freed from death,
beings subject to sorrow, lamentation, bodily pain, mental pain, and despair are freed from them.

In this way, Sāriputta, it should be known, in a manner of speaking, how spiritual friendship, good companionship, good comradeship is the whole of the holy life.”
