

The Living Word of the Buddha

The Buddha's Teachings in the Earliest Texts

Translations, essays and notes by Piya Tan ©2010

Volume 34

Theme: Spiritual friendship

2011c

Page
1	34.1 Spiritual friendship: a textual study The nature and duties of friendship
10	34.1 (3.2.4) (Sevitabba) Mitta Sutta (A 3.133)
39	34.2 Meghiya Sutta (A 9.3 ≈ U 4.1) Spiritual friendship is conducive to mental development
56	34.3 Kalyāṇa,mitta Appamāda Sutta (S 3.18) The Buddha as a spiritual friend
61	34.4 Poṭṭhila-ṭ,thera Vatthu (DhA 20.7 on Dh 282) The power of faith in spiritual growth
67	34.5 Cult Buddhism The blurring and abuse of Buddhism
90	34.6 Caṅkamana Sutta We tend to see others in our own image
95	34.7 Cātumā Sutta (M 67) Four dangers that renunciants must overcome
125	34.8 (Sāla,vatikā) Lohicca Sutta (D 12) Good teachers and bad teachers
159	34.9 Upaḍḍha Sutta (S 45.2) Spiritual friendship is the holy life
165	34.10 (Kalyāṇa,mittatā) Sāriputta Sutta (S 45.3) Spiritual friendship is the whole of spiritual life
168	34.11 Kalyāṇa,mittatā Sutta 1 (S 45.49) The external condition for the noble eightfold path
170	34.12 Yoniso Sutta or Yoniso Manasikāra Sampadā Sutta (S 45.55) The internal condition for the noble eightfold path
174	34.13 (Piya) Mitta Sutta 1 (A 7.35) Qualities of a true friend (a layman)
177	34.14 (Piya) Mitta Sutta 2 (A 7.36) Qualities of a true friend (a monastic)
180	34.15 Sabbhi Sutta (S 1.31) Associating with the good

A spiritual friend is one who keeps our hearts calm and clear

ISBN 978-981-08-7378-3

Spiritual Friendship

SUTTADISCOVERY34

©2011c

©2011 TAN Beng Sin
All rights reserved
Printed in Singapore

THE MINDING CENTRE, based in Singapore, is part of Piya Tan’s Dharma ministry. It was founded in 2006 to provide Dharma-based non-religious service to those in need of counsel and solace. It also serves as a haven and hub for those seeking Dharma by way of meditation and education, Sutta study and translation, and spiritual experience. The Centre also supports and promotes Piya Tan in his full-time Buddhist and related work.

Courses: <http://themindingcentre.org>

THE SUTTA DISCOVERY SERIES is part of the Living Word of the Buddha project which aspires to encourage and facilitate Buddhist Studies, both in a Dharma-inspired and academic manner for personal development as well as outreach work on a local and global scale. The Minding Centre and the Living Word of the Buddha project are motivated and guided by the vision of mere Buddhism.

Suttas: <http://dharmafarer.org>

THE MERE BUDDHIST VISION. We aspire to learn, teach and practise mere Dharma, or “non-religious Buddhism,” that is, Buddhism as simple as possible, as the Buddha Dharma, so that it is open to all who seek true stillness and liberating wisdom. We aspire to compassionately and joyfully proclaim the possibility, necessity and urgency of gaining spiritual liberation in this life itself—at least as a streamwinner, with or without dhyana—in keeping with the Okkanti Samyutta (S 25). Mere Buddhism is easy: live it and be free

Piya Tan (TAN Beng Sin), 1949-
Title: Sutta Discovery vol 34. Theme: Spiritual friendship
Series: The living word of the Buddha (2002-)
First published 2011; publisher: the author
ISBN 978-981-08-7378-3

<http://dharmafarer.org>
<http://themindingcentre.org>